

Bingo Dabber Shape Activities

Learn to name and describe 2D shapes with these FUN bingo dabber activities! Children should dot and dab the shapes with a bingo dabber/dot marker or crayon.

Engaging, low-prep hands-on learning for home or school! Print out individual sheets or staple all sheets together to make an activity book.

The following are included in black/white:

- 13 dab it shape activities - dab around the outline of the shape
- 13 dot it shape activities - search for and dot the shapes
- The shapes included are square, rectangle, circle, triangle, oval, heart, star, rhombus, pentagon, hexagon, octagon, parallelogram and trapezium

Bingo Dabber Tips

There are many benefits to using bingo dabbers. From an adult's perspective, they are far less messy than paint! Using bingo dabbers is fun and will also help children to:

- Develop an understanding of one-to-one correspondence
- Develop fine motor skills and hand-eye coordination, as they direct the dabber to the dot and push down on the paper
- Develop postural control, which is essential for good handwriting

There are a few rules that you will want to teach children before they use bingo dabbers for the first time:

1. Only dab on the paper/workbook
2. Press down quite firmly but not too hard!
3. Don't squeeze the bingo dabber
4. Replace the lid after use

It's important that children dab and then bring the pen straight back up. If they push down for too long, the paper will become soggy and rip.

It's a good idea to model how to use bingo dabbers correctly, just like you would if you were showing them felt pens, scissors, or glue for the first time.

Top tip: print pages out one-sided and not back-to-back. This will avoid the nuisance of bleed-through!
